

Island Alpine

From terrain parks, alpine bowls, and magnificent glades, to meticulously groomed cruisers and gentle learning terrain; Mount Washington has your alpine experience covered! The mountain's nine lifts serve over 1600 acres of ski and snowboard terrain.

Mount Washington has attracted praise in recent years for the opening of the Outback, which is located on the backside of the mountain. This 400-acre riding paradise offers magnificent glade skiing, pillow lines, deep alpine bowls, and steep drops. On the subject of glades, Mount Washington is home to some of the finest tree riding on the planet. The mountain expands its tree skiing experience again this winter with the new Goodtime Glades, an extensive beginner/intermediate glading development on the south side of the mountain in a zone adjacent to the Hawk Chair- the resort's high-speed six-person chair.

Novice riders of all ages are catered for in our Green Zone where snow pros are ready to show you how to hit the slopes with style and form! Numerous options for learning how to ride and ski are offered through the mountain's extensive snow school programs.

In order to keep the "park rats" happy, the resort's groomers and park crew sculpt two snow-filled terrain parks to perfection! The Easy Rider Terrain Park is the perfect learning area for young park groms and is located on the lower mountain. The second terrain park, The Stomping Ground, is the mountain's premiere advanced-level park. The Stomping Ground is home to a wide array of skill-testing rails, tabletops, berms, fun boxes, and natural hits. Some of the best freeriders in the world perfect their skills right here at Mount Washington's Stomping Ground!

For sure-fire family fun, the resort's Green and Whisky Jack Chairs work overtime into the evening for family-oriented night skiing Thursday to Saturdays and daily during holiday periods. Located beside the Green Chair, the Ozone Snow Tubing Park is a welcome attraction for visitors of all ages. A very mild dose of courage will see you flying down the snow tube lanes in no time. The Ozone Snow Tubing Park is lift-accessed, night lit, snow-sliding fun for the whole family!
